When Jerry Buss purchased the Los Angeles Lakers and Kings in June of 1979, a dream came true. Born Jan. 27, 1933, Buss' rise from an impoverished youth in Kemmerer, a small Wyoming mining and sheep ranching community, to his current position of influence in both the business and sports communities was not so much meteoric as it was a product of education and hard work.

A graduate of the University of Wyoming with a Bachelor's degree, Buss received his Ph.D. in Chemistry from the University of Southern California.

In 1958, he and fellow aerospace worker Frank Mariani found among other common bonds a mutual desire to improve their economic status. Applying their scientific training to commerce, chemist Buss and engineer Mariani parlayed an original $1,000 investment in an apartment building into what is today a multi-hundred million dollar real estate business with property throughout California and holdings in Arizona and Nevada.

Buss' first involvement in professional sports came in World Team Tennis in 1974. Each year under his ownership attendance increased steadily until, in 1978, the Los Angeles Strings not only won the league championship, they also broke all attendance records by a large margin.

Unable to pursue even a high school athletic career because of his need to work, Buss yearned to be involved with major league sports. The spring following the Strings' championship season, Buss' dream came true with his purchase of the Lakers, Kings, and The Forum for $67.5 million, the largest sports transaction in history.

The Buss family also owns and operates the Los Angeles Strings of the restructured Team Tennis league and the Los Angeles Lazers of Major Indoor Soccer. Daughter Jeanie operates the Strings and promotes all tennis in The Forum, while son John runs the Lazers.

Buss' blue-jean lifestyle is as casual as his business operations are mathematically precise. He involves himself in both with great enthusiasm, as he does his community involvement. He devotes a large measure of his time and resources to many community and youth serving causes. He is most diligent in his support of education and the disadvantaged young and elderly.

BILL SHARMAN

There are two men in NBA history who have won league titles as a player, coach and general manager. You're reading about one of them.

Bill won four league titles as a player with the Boston Celtics at the start of the club's dynasty in the '60's, guided the Lakers to their first championship in 1972, and served as general manager of the club when it won again in 1980 and 1982. In his two years as president of the club the Lakers have reached the NBA finals, almost giving him championship rings from four different perspectives.

Bill has been an integral part of the Lakers' success since he replaced Joe Mullaney as the club's head coach in 1971. In his first season the Lakers amassed a 33-game winning streak and a 69-13 record for the season, both league records, in winning Los Angeles' first NBA title.

Actually, winning titles was nothing new to Bill. He's the only coach to have done so in three professional leagues: the American Basketball League (Cleveland Pipers—1962), the American Basketball Association (Utah Stars—1971) and the NBA. He had achieved prior success coaching in the NBA with the San Francisco Warriors (1966-68), where his first club reached the league finals and his second was eliminated in the division finals.

Bill's NBA teams compiled a 333-240 (.581) record, his Laker teams won better than 60 percent of their games, and four of his seven clubs finished in first place.

After his distinguished career as a coach Bill moved to the front office, where he served as general manager for six years before being elevated to the position of president. At that time, club owner Dr. Jerry Buss said "Bill's been incredible. His knowledge of the league is so vast. What really impresses me are some of the things he takes into consideration before making a deal."

Bill has been instrumental in the formation of the present Lakers and engineered the trade with Cleveland that enabled the Lakers to select James Worthy in the 1982 college draft, the first time the reigning champions had the first pick in NBA draft history.

Bill was born in Abilene, Texas on May 25, 1926 and moved to Lomita, California with his family while an infant. He was honored as Outstanding High School Athlete in California in 1944 after competing in football, baseball, track and basketball, earning 15 letters at Porterville High School. He also found time to win the state amateur singles tennis championship while still in high school.

Following high school Bill spent two years in the Navy, then enrolled at USC, where he started as a freshman in baseball and basketball. Bill did not miss a free throw in two seasons and was a two-time All-America, but left school early to sign a bonus contract with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bill never appeared in a major league game but, oddly, was ejected from one. That occurred in 1951 when an umpire cleared both benches during a hotly-contested battle during the pennant race. Bill was on the bench when Bobby Thompson stroked "the shot heard 'round the world," the historic pennant-clinching home run that advanced the New York Giants to the 1951 World Series.

By then, Bill had already begun his pro basketball career, having joined the Washington Capitals in 1949 before moving to the Boston Celtics the following year. In addition to the four league titles, the Celtics finished first five times and never suffered a losing season during his 10 years there.

Arguably the greatest shooter during the NBA's first generation, Bill was the first guard to shoot above .400 from the floor and his .884 career free throw percentage is still the third-highest in league history. He averaged 17.8 points in the regular season and, in 78 playoff appearances, improved his performance by averaging 18.5 points and sinking 91 percent of his free throws, second-best in league history.

Bill was named to the All-League team seven times and participated in the All-Star Game on eight occasions, earning MVP honors in the 1955 contest and making a fabled 88-foot shot in the 1958 classic. He was named to the NBA's Silver Anniversary team, symbolic of the best players in the league during its first 25 years, and was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1976. Bill's jersey number, retired by the Boston Celtics, still hangs in Boston Garden.

Bill added another distinction last year, as a player no less, when he became one of the few players to compete in four decades at the league's first Old-Timer's Game during the All-Star weekend in Denver.

Bill and his wife, Joyce, live in Rolling Hills. Bill has two daughters, Nancy and Janice, and two sons, Jerry and Tom, from a previous marriage.

JERRY WEST

Since 1960, Jerry West has served the Lakers in one capacity or another for all but two seasons: 1974-75 and 1975-76.

Since 1960, the Lakers have competed in the playoffs in all but two seasons: 1974-75 and 1975-76.

Just a coincidence?

From 1976 to 1979, Jerry served as the club's head coach, compiling a 145-101 record (.589) and guiding his first club to a 53-29 record, the best in the league that season. For the next three years Jerry served as a special consultant to the club with primary responsibilities of scouting college players. Prior to the 1982-83 season, Jerry became the club's general manager, where he oversees the day-to-day operation of the club and all player personnel decisions.

He also played a little basketball.

Jerry played 14 years in the NBA, all with the Lakers, and is the club's all-time leader in seven categories, including scoring.

Jerry retired from playing in 1974 as the third player in NBA history to have scored 25,000 points and his 25,192 ranks sixth on the all-time scoring list. He has the fourth-highest scoring average (27.0) in NBA history and ranks second in free throws made (7,160) and sixth in field goals made (9,016) and assists (6,238).

Nowhere was his nickname, "Mr. Clutch," more appropriate than in the playoffs. Jerry is the leading scorer in playoff history, both in total points (4,457) and average (29.1). Two of his most memorable accomplishments in the post-season were the 1964-65 playoffs, when he averaged 40.6 points per game, and the 1970 Championship Series, when he sank a 60-foot shot at the buzzer in The Forum to send a game into overtime.

In 1969-70 Jerry led the league in scoring (31.2) and in 1971-72 he led the league in assists (747). After the All-Defensive team became a fixture in 1969 he earned first team honors four times. Jerry also led the Lakers in scoring nine times and in assists for 10 seasons.

Jerry was selected to play in the All-Star Game for 13 consecutive seasons and was selected to the All-League first team 10 times (earning second-team honors twice), and neither of those totals have been surpassed.

Despite playing on the losing team Jerry was MVP of the 1969 playoffs and was also MVP of the 1972 All-Star Game, played at The Forum. He was a member of the 1971-72 Lakers' club that won the team's first NBA title in Los Angeles, in addition to setting records with 33 consecutive wins and 69 victories for the season.

In 1980 Jerry's deeds on the court were rewarded with his being named to the Basketball Hall of Fame, and last year he showed that his storied jump shot is still in working order when he competed in the first NBA Old-Timers Game during the All-Star weekend in Denver.

Jerry was born on May 28, 1938 in Cheylan, West Virginia, and gained national notoriety at East Bank High School, leading his team to the state championship in 1956. He averaged 32.2 points per game that year to become the first player in West Virginia history to score over 900 points in a season.

He went on to West Virginia University where he set 12 school records, graduated with a 24.8 career scoring average and was a two-time All-America before becoming the Lakers' first pick in the 1960 college draft.

Jerry served as co-captain of the 1960 U.S. Olympic basketball team, which won the gold medal and is generally considered the greatest Olympic team ever compiled. He was also a member of the championship U.S. squad in the 1958 Pan American Games.

Jerry and his wife, Karen, reside in Bel Air with their five-year-old son, Ryan. Jerry has three other sons, David, Michael and Mark, from a previous marriage.

PAT RILEY

In less than three seasons as the Lakers' head coach Pat Riley has aleady earned a place in the NBA's record books.

He's the first coach to take his team to the Championship series in his first three seasons, his playoff winning percentage of .680 (34-16) is the highest in NBA history by far, and his .689 (162-73) regular-season winning percentage is the second-highest in NBA history.

Pat's basic philosophies as a coach are simple. "I think it's very important that you set goals that are reachable, that you don't try to expect too much from a team," he said. "I think players should be allowed to make mistakes and be able to play the game without being inhibited.

"I'm not as laid back as people think. I am a very serious person about everything that I do. As much as I can, I try to let go of the game, whether we win it or lose it. I really am a believer in the process and the struggle over the results. Sure I want to win championships, but I also want to grow as a person and learn what we accomplished over the nine months and not totally predicate my whole season on whether we won the championship or not."

Much of Pat's philosophies as a coach were handed down from his college coach at the University of Kentucky, the legendary Adolph Rupp. Pat was the team's MVP for three years and served as team captain as a senior, but had his best year as a junior when he averaged 22 points per game and led the Wildcats to the NCAA finals.

Pat was the seventh player taken in the first round of the 1967 college draft by the San Diego Rockets, where he played for three years before joining the Lakers. Pat spent more than five years of his nine-year NBA career with the Lakers and was a member of the club's record-setting championship team in 1972. His best season was 1974-75, when he averaged 11 points per game and had a career-high 38-point outing. The Lakers dealt Pat to the Phoenix Suns early in the following season, and he retired after that campaign.

Pat was just beginning his third season as Chick Hearn's colorman on Laker broadcasts in November, 1979, when Laker head coach Jack McKinney was seriously injured in a bicycle accident. Assistant coach Paul Westhead replaced McKinney as head coach and, while waiting for a plane at the Denver airport, asked Pat to join him as his assistant.

Pat replaced Westhead as the Lakers' head coach on Nov. 19, 1981, and the club responded by winning 11 of its next 13 games, establishing the momentum that led to the club's second NBA title in three years. Under his leadership the club finished the regular season winning 50 of their final 71 games, then breezed through the playoffs winning 12 of 14 contests, including an NBA playoff-record nine in a row with back-to-back series sweeps.

In March, 1983, Pat won his 100th game as head coach in his 138th outing and only two coaches—Red Auerbach and John Kundla—have reached that milestone faster. Despite having only coached three years, Pat already ranks 15th on the all-time playoff wins list.

Pat's abilities as an athlete were not restricted to basketball, as he also starred in football while growing up in Schenectady, New York and was an 11th-round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys in 1967. His brother, Lee, played defensive back in the NFL and his father, Leon, was a major league catcher and minor league manager.

The 38-year-old Riley and his wife, Chris, live in Brentwood.

Pat's 150th NBA victory: March 13, 1984 ..... 114-98 vs. Seattle

BILL BERTKA

One of Pat Riley's first moves as a head coach was to hire Bill Bertka as his assistant, and, judging by his evaluation of Bill, it's something Riley certainly hasn't regretted.

"Bill has been a mentor to me and a man who has taught me a lot about coaching, about preparation, about how to deal with coaching over a long period of time," said Riley. "He is a man who is very important in my life. Besides his basketball intellect and his constant motivation and encouragement, he is my equilibrium in time of stress and a guy who can really keep things in the right perspective. His job is not just Xs and Os, it's one of emotional stability. Bill Bertka is a very vital part of this organization and a lot of the things we do come directly from his philosophy."

Bertka, now in his second tour of duty with the Lakers, has a highly-respected reputation for his scouting ability and his knack of evaluating talent. He started and still owns Bertka Views, the most successful college scouting service in the country.

Although Bertka Views is now operated by his wife, Solveig, Bill maintains access to more scouting reports on college talent than anyone. Some of the most successful college basketball programs in the country use Bertka Views as their exclusive scouting service.

Bill, 57, graduated from Kent State University, where he played basketball. He played pro ball in the old National Industrial Basketball League before beginning his coaching career at Hancock College in Santa Maria, California. From 1954-57 his Hancock teams compiled a 97-13 record, including a 42-game winning streak and a California Junior College State Championship in 1957.

Bertka left Hancock in 1957 and returned to Kent State to become head coach. During his four years there he helped elevate Kent State's program to the major-college level.

Bill began his career in the NBA with the Lakers in 1968, serving as the club's chief scout and director of player personnel for six years.

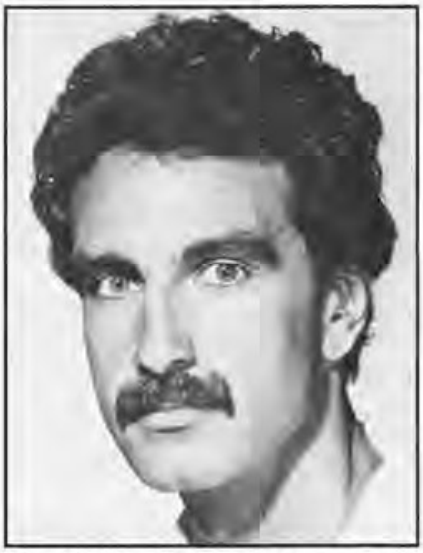
He left the Lakers in 1974 to join the newly-created New Orleans Jazz and helped build that franchise from the ground up. Bill served the Jazz in a variety of capacities (general manager, director of player personnel, assistant coach), and his efforts certainly contributed to the club's development into the Midwest Division champions last season.

He rejoined the Lakers when Riley took over the club early in the 1981-82 campaign as assistant coach. At that time, Pat said, "I never really considered anyone else. Bill Bertka was the one I wanted all along."

Bill and Solveig have two daughters, Britt and Kris, and make their home in Santa Barbara.

The Lakers won the Pacific Division title for the third year in a row, fourth in the last five years, and ninth in the 14 years since the present divisional alignment was created.

DAVE WOHL



As Dave Wohl begins his third year as an assistant coach with the Lakers, perhaps it would be appropriate if he added the title of "Director of Technology."

Among his responsibilities are breaking down of videotapes of the Lakers and their opponents, both before, after and during games, as well as compiling statistical data and developing the club's new computer system. He is also responsible for scouting other clubs around the NBA and Pat Riley feels the 34-year-old Wohl "works very hard in that area, one that I think has helped us become one of the best-prepared teams in the NBA."

Not bad for a guy who was originally recruited by the Unviersity of Pennsylvania to play football. The East Brunswick, New Jersey, native switched to basketball, however, and led the Quakers to a 53-3 record and NCAA Tournament berths his final two seasons, in addition to receiving All-Ivy League honors.

The Philadelphia 76ers selected Dave in the third round of the 1971 college draft and, as a rookie, he trailed only Billy Cunningham and Hal Greer on the club in assists. He later played for Portland, Buffalo, Houston (where he scored his career-high 29 points) and New Jersey, before he retired in 1979. He holds the distinction of being the only Philadelphia 76er to wear uniform No. 13 since Wilt Chamberlain left the club.

Dave served as an assistant under Kevin Loughery with the Nets after he retired, and later spent three years as an assistant under Don Nelson with the Milwaukee Bucks for three years before joining the Laker staff prior to the 1982-83 campaign. He also served as coach and general manager of the Philadelphia Fox of the Women's Basketball League briefly in 1979.

Dave is single and lives in Manhattan Beach.

GENE TORMOHLEN

Gene Tormohlen begins his second year as the Lakers' scout, which is good news to the airlines, the phone company and the postal service.

"Bumper", as he is known throughout the NBA, has a reputation as a keen judge of talent, and the Lakers will again use his services primarily in assessing college players.

The 6-9 native of Holland, Indiana was a two-time All-SEC performer at Tennessee, serving as captain of the Vols as a senior. Gene played for the St. Louis Hawks for six seasons, retiring after the club moved to Atlanta. He also played with the amateur Cleveland Pipers of the NIBL, leading the team to league and AAU titles his second season, then played with the Kansas City Steers of the American Basketball League for two years.

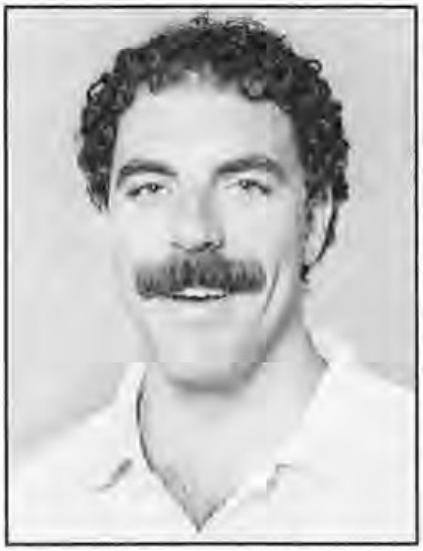
Tormohlen, continued . . .

Gene has spent the last 16 years in the NBA, spending eight campaigns with the Hawks as a scout and assistant coach and seven years as a scout for the Chicago Bulls, before joining the Lakers last year.

Gene and his wife, Julie, live in Atlanta with their two children, Gina and Tommy.

GARY VITTI



Gary Vitti is the only "rookie" on the Laker staff this season, having been named to replace Jack Curran as trainer in August.

Vitti, 30, comes to the Lakers from the University of Portland, where he served as head athletic trainer for the past two years. Prior to that, Vitti served as an assistant trainer for the Utah Jazz in 1981-82, and spent the two years before that as a trainer at the University of Utah.

In addition to his duties as trainer at both universities, Gary served as an instructor for courses such as Care and Prevention of Athletic Injuries and Kinesiology. At the University of Portland, he designed and implemented a new curriculum program in sports medicine.

Gary has also found time to take a few courses too, having earned his B.S. from Southern Connecticut State College in 1976 and an M.S. in Sports Medicine from the University of Utah in 1982, where he is presently working towards a Ph.D.

Gary grew up in Stamford, Connecticut and earned varsity letters in baseball, basketball and football at Stamford Catholic High School. He is a member of the American College of Sports Medicine, the National Athletic Trainers Association, the Northwest Athletic Trainers Association and the Oregon Athletic Trainers Society.

Gary, his wife, Christine, their two dogs and a cat, were looking for a place to live in the South Bay area as this was being written.

CHICK HEARN

This season marks more than just the 25th anniversary of the Lakers in Los Angeles—it's the 25th anniversary of the Lakers in Chick Hearn, too.

When the club reached the playoffs back in that first Southern California season in the spring of 1961, Chick was asked to broadcast the club's post-season games. He's been a part of the Lakers ever since.

Working with a team that has featured superstars like Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Elgin Baylor, Wilt Chamberlain, Magic Johnson and Jerry West, Hearn may top them all in popularity.

On March 28, 1961, the Lakers honored him with "Chick Hearn Night" and the hundreds of congratulatory letters and telegrams he received filled two scrapbooks, including one from President Ronald Reagan.

Chick's come a long way—all the way from Aurora, Illinois, where he grew up and later attended Bradley University. Francis Dayle Hearn became "Chick" when, as an AAU basketball player, he was handed a box of sneakers and was surprised by finding a chicken inside.

Chick came to Los Angeles in 1956 to broadcast USC football and basketball and later did a nightly radio sports show that earned him two Emmy Awards in the '60's. He has received a Golden Mike Award and has twice been named National Sportscaster of the Year and California Sportscaster of the Year.

Although best known for his work with the Lakers, Chick has covered virtually every conceivable kind of sporting event: Forum boxing, NCAA football, UNLV basketball, soccer, PGA Golf Tournaments, the first Ali-Frazier fight, the Rose Bowl, the East-West Shrine football game, celebrity tennis and Bowling for Dollars.

Chick and his wife, Marge, live in Encino with their daughter, Samantha.

KEITH ERICKSON

When Pat Riley vacated his seat next to Chick Hearn for a seat on the Laker bench early in the 1981-82 season that left another position to be filled. Enter Keith Erickson.

Keith obviously felt right at home, and rightfully so. Prior to joining the Laker broadcast team, he had worked as an announcer for CBS-TV, the USA Cable Network and ON-TV. As a player, he had a 12-year NBA career, including 309 games with the Lakers.

"Keith is one of the most thoroughly oriented basketball men I've ever been associated with," said Hearn. "He always has something important to add without redundancy. He's as good a professional basketball color analyst as the game knows."

Apparently the listeners agree, since Keith was voted the No. 1 color analyst in Los Angeles in a newspaper poll. But success seems to follow him around.

During his college career at UCLA Keith played on two of John Wooden's NCAA Championship clubs. In the NBA, he was a member of the Lakers' record-setting Championship club in 1971-72 and participated in five Championship Series during his career, averaging 10 points a game for his career.

A native of El Segundo, Keith is an excellent all-around athlete and was a member of the U.S. Olympic volleyball team in 1964.

Keith and his wife, Adrienne, live in Santa Monica with their five children, Angelica, David, Forest, Gloria and Sean.

The Lakers made at least half of their FGAs in 18 of the final 20 games. Over the last 17 games of the season the Lakers made 811-1478 (.549). Five different Lakers made better than 55 percent of their FGs.

KAREEM ABDUL-JABBAR 33

Height: 7-2 Weight: 235
Position: Center
Born: April 16, 1947
High School: Power Memorial (New York)
College: UCLA '69
Residence: Westwood

Acquired in a trade with the Milwaukee Bucks following the 1974-75 season for Elmore Smith, Brian Winters, Dave Meyers and Junior Bridgeman.

1983-84: Last season may have been the most memorable in Kareem's rather extraordinary career . . . reached several milestones, the biggest in Las Vegas on April 5 when he calmly sank his patented hook shot from the right baseline in the third quarter of a game against the Utah Jazz to pass Wilt Chamberlain and become the leading scorer in NBA history . . . enters his 16th NBA season with 31,527 career points . . . first team All-NBA selection for the ninth time in his career and first since 1980-81 . . . second team All-Defensive team . . . led the Lakers in total rebounds for the first time since 1980-81 and in minutes played for the first time since 1978-79 . . . though his scoring average (21.5) was the lowest of his NBA career many long-time Kareem watchers felt he had his best season in five years . . . slowed by hepatitis early in the season which caused him to miss training camp, Kareem's scoring average dipped below 18 points per game in late December . . . averaged 24 points over the final 49 games and had 20 or more in his last 22 games, averaging 24.0 on 243-390 FGs (.623) over that span . . . missed two games in the final week of the season, one due to a contusion over his left eye and the other a CD in the season finale . . . extended his regular-season consecutive double-figure scoring streak to 537 games . . . also broke Chamberlain's all-time field goals made record in Boston on Feb. 8 and enters the season with 13,006 . . . two-time NBA Player of the Week selection and Player of the Month for March, when he averaged 26.2 points and shot .611 FGs . . . led the Lakers in scoring for the ninth consecutive season and ranked 18th in the league in scoring, seventh in FG pct. (.578) and ninth in blocked shots (1.79) . . . seven games with 30 or more points, all after Jan. 1 . . . with the retirement of Elvin Hayes Kareem is now the oldest player in the NBA . . . made his 13th All-Star Game appearance and led the West with 25 points and 13 rebounds . . . passed Jerry West to become all-time leader in FGMs in playoff competition, entering this year with 1,698 . . . led the club in scoring (23.9) and rebounding (8.2) during the playoffs and scored in double figures in all 21 games . . . 20 or more points in 15 playoff contests, including six of seven Championship Series games (19 in the exception) . . . led the club in scoring in 12 playoff games and in rebounds on 11 occasions . . . had regular-season highs of 35 points vs. Pistons March 23 and 15 rebounds vs. Denver Dec. 27 . . . had playoff-high 33 points in Game 4 vs. Dallas, the most by the Lakers in the post-season . . . did his best scoring in the playoffs vs. the Celtics (26.6) but did his best shooting vs. the Suns (.636) and Mavericks (.622).

CAREER: Kareem is the only player to have won six NBA MVP Awards (1971-72-74-76-77-79) . . . selected to the All-Star Game 14 times, first team All-NBA nine teams and All-Defensive 11 times, five on first team . . . one of 12 players in league history to have won championships with two different franchises . . . became second-fastest player to score 25,000 points, needing just 889 games to do so . . . Rookie of the Year in 1969-70 and the league's second-leading scorer that year (29.9) . . . in addition to winning his first MVP Award the following year he was named playoff MVP as the Bucks swept the Bullets for the title . . . made it back-to-back MVPs and scoring titles the following year, scoring his career-high 34.8 points per game . . . averaged more than 44 minutes per game in 1971-72 and scored 55 points in a game at Boston that year, still a career high . . . runner-up for MVP in 1972-73 but won his third the following year, finishing third in scoring (27.0) and fourth in rebounding (14.5) . . . has averaged better than 24 points per game since joining the Lakers and has added three more MVP awards . . . ranks third behind Jerry West and Elgin Baylor in most categories on the all-time Laker list, including scoring, and is the club's second all-time leading rebounder . . . credit veteran announcer Eddie Doucette with the term "sky-hook",

Height: 6-7 Weight: 170
Position: Guard/forward
Born: April 15, 1956
High School: Pasadena (California)
College: University of New Mexico '78
Residence: Los Angeles

Selected by the Lakers in the third round of the 1978 college draft.

1983-84: Michael's reputation as one of the most versatile players in the NBA was enhanced by two new dimensions last season: ball-handling and three-point shooting . . . inherited the role as back-up point guard and responded by averaging 5.9 assists, second-best on the club and his best by two per game . . . led the team in assists 17 times . . . career-high 17 assists vs. San Diego on Dec. 4 and double figures in assists 10 times, after doing it twice in his first five NBA seasons . . . made more three-point shots than any team in

Cooper, continued . . .

Laker history, hitting 38, second-best in the NBA . . . his .314 three-point pct. ranked fourth in the league . . . first of four NBA players to hit four three-point shots in a game last year, doing so vs. Philadelphia March 7 . . . hit 16-31 3s (.516) during a nine-game stretch Feb. 21-March 7 . . . named first team All-Defensive for the second time in his career . . . played in all 82 games for the second year in a row and his consecutive game streak reached 172, longest on the club . . . led the club in FT pct. for the third time in the last four years and, though his FG pct. dipped below .500 (.497) for only the second time in his career, his FT pct. (.838) was the highest of his career . . . his FG pct. was a more respectable .549 when you take out his three-point attempts . . . has only missed seven games over the last five seasons after appearing in just three contests as a rookie due to a knee injury . . . led the club in assists and minutes while Earvin Johnson was sidelined for 13 games in December . . . double figures in 40 games, hitting season high 20 on three occasions . . . averaged 10.8 points and 9.2 assists in December . . . had a string of six straight games scoring in double figures in November . . . participated in Slam Dunk contest at All-Star Game in Denver . . . tied a Championship Series record in Game 4 vs. Boston by playing 47 minutes without a turnover, matching Wes Unseld in that feat . . . started all 21 playoff games, 13 at forward (offensively) and the last eight in the backcourt . . . double figures in 12 playoff contests, including the last two . . . had his career-playoff-high 23 points in Game 6 vs. Celtics, the most points he's scored in any game since getting his regular-season career-high 31 vs. Celtics Feb. 7, 1982 . . . had his highest-scoring playoff series in the finals averaging 13.4 points and hitting 5-10 3FGs.

MITCH KUPCHAK 25

Height: 6-10 Weight: 230
Position: Center/Forward
Born: May 24, 1955
High School: Brentwood (New York)
College: North Carolina '76
Residence: Westwood

Acquired by the Lakers on Aug. 5, 1981, from the Washington Bullets for Jim Chones, Brad Holland, a second-round pick in the 1982 college draft and a third-round selection in the 1983 draft.

1983-84: Although Mitch was not named NBA Comeback Player of the Year, he certainly had some support: at least from the doctors who told him he would never play again after he suffered multiple injuries to his left knee at San Diego on Dec. 19, 1981 . . . continued to show steady improvement last year . . . surprised some by even being at training camp, then drew attention when he dove for a loose ball in the first week of camp . . . placed on the active roster Nov. 18 and saw his first action Nov. 25 vs. New Jersey, getting four points and three rebounds in eight minutes . . . played sparingly after that until the final 13 games of the season, appearing in each for at least 10 minutes and averaging 5.7 points, 4.9 rebounds and 15.5 minutes . . . made his first of three starts Dec. 15 at Phoenix, but DNP-CD in 38 of 59 games prior to March 25, when he moved in as back-up center . . . Lakers won seven of next nine after that . . . had 11 points and six rebounds in season-high 27 minutes in division-clinching win at Portland April 8 . . . also started finale vs. Phoenix April 15 getting five points and four rebounds in 16 minutes . . . season-high 12 points at San Diego March 28 and 10 rebounds vs. Kansas City April 6 . . . double figures twice . . . appeared in nine playoff games, averaging 2.0 points and 3.2 rebounds and was the club's leading rebounder per minute in the post season . . . appeared in all three games vs. Kings and averaged 2.3 points and 3.3 rebounds . . . averaged 1.3 points and 3.7 rebounds in three outings vs. Mavericks . . . DNP vs. Phoenix, then averaged 2.3 points and 2.7 rebounds vs. Celtics in Championship Series, getting five points and three rebounds in seven minutes of Game 7.

CAREER: Mitch was a first-round draft choice of the Washington Bullets in 1976 and served as the club's sixth man behind Elvin Hayes and Wes Unseld for five years before joining the Lakers . . . a major force on the Bullets' Championship team in 1978 . . . shot .572 from the floor as a rookie, a record for first-year players until broken by Steve Johnson and Buck Williams in 1981-82 . . . that .572 at the time was the 10th-highest single-season FG pct. in NBA history . . . in 1977-78 he suffered torn ligaments in his right thumb in January and was sidelined for four weeks . . . in 1978-79, his 14.6 scoring average was second-highest in the league among non-starters . . . his two highest-scoring games (32 points) came nearly a year apart, Nov. 19, 1977 vs. Kansas City and Nov. 24, 1978 vs. the Lakers . . . after surgery to remove a herniated disc in his back, Mitch came back strong in 1980-81, appearing in all 82 games and setting a personal high for minutes played . . . averaged 12.5 points and shot .525 from the floor and had his best rebounding year taking 569, an average of 6.9 . . . Mitch's 26 starts with the Lakers in 1981-82 were more starts than he made in his five season with the Bullets, and his .573 FG pct. and 8.1 rebound average were the best of his career . . . the Lakers were 19-7 when he was injured and Mitch was shooting 64 percent in the wins, 42 percent in the losses . . . scored in double figures in 19 games with six games of 20 or more and seven double-digit rebound games . . . on Nov. 20, 1981, Mitch made all 11 of his FG attempts (scoring 25 points and grabbing 17 rebounds) vs. San Antonio to join Wilt Chamberlain as the only Laker to have shot 1.000 from the floor in a game taking 10 or more shots . . . among the injuries to his knee was a torn anterior cruciate ligament which required two operations . . . the second operation on June 9, 1982, the day after the Lakers won the NBA title, transplanted part of his patellar tendon to where the ligament had been . . . underwent daily therapy and rehabiliation for 16 months before returning to the Lakers . . . took graduate courses in business at UCLA during his recovery period.

COLLEGE: Mitch was a standout for four years at North Carolina where he shot .586 from the floor during his career . . . shot .604 as a freshman and .602 as a junior . . . UNC won the ACC Tournament his junior year and Mitch was the league's Player of the Year as a senior . . . averaged 13.5 points per game throughout his college career and more than 11 rebounds per game over his final two years.

PERSONAL: Mitch spent most of the summer on the East Coast, both in Washington, D.C. where he has a private business and with his family on Long Island . . . also conducted his annual summer camp . . . loves to listen to Bruce Springsteen and watch Tar Heel basketball . . . has traded in his allegiance from the New York Yankees to the California Angels . . . spends a great amount of time working with charities, notably the Special Olympics . . . has a two-phase contract which includes working with Dr. Buss when his playing days are over . . . has an older sister and younger twin brothers . . . Mitch is single and lives in Westwood.

Position: Center/Forward
Born: September 25, 1951
High School: Ben Smith (Greensboro, North Carolina)
College: North Carolina '72
Residence: Los Angeles

Acquired from the New Jersey Nets on Dec. 24, 1981 for a second-round selection in the 1983 college draft and an undisclosed amount of cash.

1983-84: Bob was the leading scorer in the NBA (13.0) among players who did not start a game . . . his scoring average is deceiving since he averaged 15.8 points over the first half of the season ad 9.6 over the second half . . . averaged 18.1 points over December and January, with a string of 25 straight games in double figures over that span . . . slowed by an upper respiratory infection that had him hospitalized in late February and caused him to miss eight games, two in April when he suffered a relapse . . . missed three games in January due to a sore ankle and missed another in March due to a right hip pointer . . . had 20 points in season finale vs.

Phoenix April 15, his first 20-point outing since he scored 20 vs. Portland Jan. 31 . . . had 32 points, his high game since joining the Lakers, at Houston on Jan. 10 . . . had three 30-point outings, all before Jan. 21 . . . scored in double figures 48 times and had 20 or more on 11 occasions . . . led club in scoring eight times . . . appeared in 20 of 21 playoff games, missing Game 7 vs. Celtics after suffering a strained right achilles tendon in Game 6 . . . Lakers' fourth-leading scorer (14.0) and rebounder (5.4) in the playoffs . . . double figures in 16 of 20 post-season contests, 20 or more on four occasions with high of 23 points twice . . . led Lakers in scoring with 20 points in Game 1 of Western Conference finals vs. Phoenix and led in rebounds twice . . . had his highest-scoring series vs. the Suns averaging 15.7 points . . . hit .803 FTs during the regular-season, above .800 for the second time in his career.

CAREER: Bob ranks 20th on the NBA's all-time scoring list with 17,803 career points and trails only Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Bob Lanier and George Gervin among active players . . . led the NBA in scoring for three consecutive years (1973-76), averaging more than 30 points per game each season . . . Rookie of the Year and a member of the All-Rookie team in 1973 . . . had a 45-point 25-rebound outing vs. Houston toward the end of that season . . . led the league in scoring (30.6) and field goal percentage (.547) in 1973-74 when he had the first of his two, career-high, 52-point games . . . had his finest season in 1974-75, winning the scoring title (34.5) by nearly four points a game over second-place Rick Barry (30.6) and earning MVP and first team All-League honors . . . had 19 games of 40 or more points that year and finished fifth in FG pct. (.512), fourth in rebounds (14.1) and sixth in blocked shots . . . in addition to winning another scoring title in 1975-76 (31.1) Bob was seventh in rebounding (12.4) and sixth in blocked shots . . . had 15 40-point-plus games and made 18-18 FTs vs. Portland and blocked nine shots vs. Houston in single games . . . had career-high 29 rebounds vs. Indiana on Dec. 7, 1976 and two days later was traded to the New York Knicks with Tom McMillen for John Gianelli and cash . . . finished the 1976-77 season fifth in scoring (25.8) and rebounding (12.9) . . . third-leading scorer in 1977-78 (26.5) and eighth in rebounding . . . averaged 24.8 points in 1978-79, fourth best in the league, after being traded on Lincoln's Birthday to the Boston Celtics for three first-round draft choices and a player to be named later, Tom Barker . . . Detroit acquired Bob for two first-round draft choices in 1980 to complete compensation for the Celtics' signing of free agent M.L. Carr . . . New Jersey acquired Bob on waivers from Detroit on March 13, 1981 . . . the Lakers then acquired Bob from the Nets after Mitch Kupchak injured his knee in November, 1981 . . . averaged 9.6 points in 41 regular-season contests, then scored at a rate of 16.7 per game and was a key factor in the club's run through the playoffs to the title . . . averaged 15.0 points in 47 games 1982-83 with the Lakers, missing the final 32 regular-season contests after injuring a toe in mid-February . . . returned to the club in the Western Conference finals and played all six games before suffering a pulled thigh muscle in the final game of that series, which sat him down for the first and final games of the Championship Series . . . has scored 40 or more points in 56 regular-season games and has had 50 or more on four occasions . . . played in all five All-Star Games from 1974-78 averaging more than 17 points in those games . . . had 30 points and 10 rebounds in the 1977 All-Star Game . . . had playoff-high of 50 points on April 18, 1975 vs. Washington and is the only active player to have scored 50 points in a playoff game . . . Bob's career-scoring average (23.5) ranks fifth among active players and he ranks among the active leaders in virtually every category . . . Buffalo made him the second player selected in the 1972 college draft.

COLLEGE: Bob began his college career at Vincennes (Ind.) University, where he averaged 25 points per game his second and final season in leading Vincennes to the national JC championship . . . has since been inducted into the National Junior College Hall of Fame . . . transferred to North Carolina and played under Dean Smith for one year before entering the NBA draft . . . averaged 19.5 points and 10 rebounds in his one season at North Carolina.

PERSONAL: Bob spent the summer living in northern New Jersey, where he stayed in shape by playing a lot of tennis . . . Bob and his wife, Charlina, have a son, Ross . . . Bob also has two other children, Rita and Robert III, from a previous marriage.

KURT RAMBIS 31

Height: 6-8 Weight: 220
Position: Forward
Born: February 25, 1958
High School: Cupertino (California)
College: Santa Clara '80
Residence: Manhattan Beach

Signed as a free agent with the Lakers on Sept. 21, 1981.

1983-84: Kurt started the season off on a bad foot — literally . . . missed the first 32 games on the Injured List due to a sore left foot and was not activated until Jan. 7 . . . scored his regular-season high 10 points, also eight rebounds, in his second outing Jan. 10 at Houston . . . missed two games later that month due to a hyper-extended left elbow . . . joined the starting five Feb. 18 and the Lakers closed 21-10 after that . . . averaged 4 points and 6.7 rebounds as a starter but those numbers are deceptively low because his production increased steadily as the season progressed . . . averaged 7.9 rebounds and 39-60 FGs (.650) over the final 20 games . . . led the Lakers in rebounding in seven of the last 12 games and double figures off the boards in four of the last six games . . . season-high 13 rebounds at Golden State April 10 and averaged 9.8 boards over the final six games . . . his output continued to increase in the playoffs as he averaged 6.7 points on .652 FGs . . . averaged 8.7 points and 6 rebounds vs. Kansas City on .733 FGs . . . averaged 6.0 points and rebounds vs. Dallas, hitting 12-14 FGs (.857) . . . averaged 7.1 points in the Championship Series and his 22-35 FGs (.629) would have been a record if James Worthy hadn't out-shot him . . . 17 points in Game 3 of the Championship Series was his personal best . . . scored in double figures in four playoff contests and led the club in rebounds five times . . . his five assists at Detroit on March 4 tied his career high . . . led the club in rebounds nine times during the regular season and one of only six NBA players to average more than one rebound every three minutes . . . his 48-minute rebound projection was 17.2.

CAREER: Kurt was drafted by the New York Knicks in the third round of the 1980 college draft . . . the Knicks released him during training camp that year, re-signed him to a 10-day contract in December, then released him again before he got into a game . . . went to Athens, Greece and played for the "AEK" team . . . spent four months in Greece and played approximately 20 games as his team won a 20-team tournament . . . the Lakers signed him and invited him to training camp and, as a longshot, he made the team . . . then, after Mitch Kupchak was injured, Pat Riley inserted Kurt into the starting lineup on Jan. 17, 1982, and he's been there ever since . . . started 43 of the final 45 games that season and all 14 playoff games as the Lakers won the championship . . . appeared in 78 of 82 games in 1982-83 and drastically improved his statistics, most notably in FG (.569) and FT (.687) shooting and scoring (7.5) . . . Kurt's .552 FG percentage ranks fifth on the Lakers all-time list.

COLLEGE: Kurt established career marks at Santa Clara with 1,725 points and 686 field goals and finished second behind Dennis Awtrey with 1,035 rebounds . . . West Coast Athletic Conference Player of the Year in 1980 . . . had his best rebounding year as a freshman averaging better than 12 a game to rank among the national leaders . . . averaged 14.9 points as a freshman and blocked 10 shots in one game to earn Northern California and WCAC Freshman of the Year honors as well as the All-WCAC first team . . . posted best marks of 19.6 points per game and had a .534 FG pct. as a senior . . . averaged 16 points, 9.6 rebounds and had a .521 FG pct. over his college career . . . had a career-high 32 points vs. the University of Portland . . . scored in double figures in his final 33 college games and hit 50 percent of his shots or better in each of those games.

PERSONAL: Kurt graduated with a B.S. in psychology and hopes to pursue a career in child counseling when his playing days are through . . . hobbies include tennis, hanging out at the beach and body-surfing . . . also a dedicated weight-lifter . . . likes to get away after the season and spend time in the mountains . . . attended Pete Newell's "Big Man" Camp in August . . . Kurt lives in Manhattan Beach and says he's going to get married after the season — but he won't say which season.

JAMES WORTHY 42

Height: 6-9 Weight: 219
Position: Forward
Born: February 27, 1961
High School: Ashbrook (Gastonia, North Carolina)
College: North Carolina
Residence: Gastonia, North Carolina

Selected by the Lakers in the first round (first overall) of the 1982 college draft.

1983-84: James' season began with a question mark and ended with an exclamation point . . . by that time the playoffs were over no one remembered that he was questionable at best at the start of training camp after suffering a fractured left leg in the final week of his rookie season . . . set a Championship Series record by hitting 67-105 FGs (.638) vs. the Celtics, erasing Wilt Chamberlain's former mark of .625 . . . averaged 22.1 points in the finals and led the team in scoring twice, getting his playoff-high 30 points but not leading the team in Game 4 . . . scored 20 or more points in eight of the Lakers' last nine playoff contests . . . Lakers' third-leading scorer in the playoffs (17.7) and joined Kareem Abdul-Jabbar as the only club members to score in double figures in all 21 contests . . . had 20 or more in the last four playoff games, longest such streak on the club . . . joined Michael Cooper as the only Lakers to appear in all 82 regular-season contests . . . scored his career-high 37 points on April 8 vs. Portland, the most by a Laker all year, as the club clinched the Pacific Division title without Kareem Abdul-Jabbar or Jamaal Wilkes present . . . started 50 of the club's first 51 games prior to Feb. 18 but his scoring average (15.8) and FG pct. (.587) both improved thereafter . . . Lakers were 21-10 after Feb. 18 with him coming off the bench . . . played just three minutes of the club's regular-season finale after suffering a corneal abrasion and scored in double figures in the six previous games and 16 of the prior 17 . . . career-high 14 rebounds vs. Golden State Dec. 23 and scored his career-high 30 points in the next game on Christmas at Portland, before surpassing that total in the club's final trip to Portland . . . played some of his best ball against the toughest competition, averaging 22.3 points vs. Portland and 22 points vs. Boston, during the regular season . . . averaged 16 points and shot 58 percent over the second half of the season . . . scored in double figures in 64 games and 20 or more on 17 occasions . . . led club in scoring seven times . . . rebounded in double figures 13 times.

CAREER: James became the first No. 1 draft pick ever selected by the reigning NBA Champions when the Lakers selected him in the 1982 draft, using a pick obtained from the Cleveland Cavaliers . . . the Lakers acquired the pick and Butch Lee for Don Ford and a 1980 No. 1 pick (Chad Kinch) on Feb. 15, 1980 . . . he became the first North Carolina player ever selected first in the NBA draft and joins Magic Johnson as the Lakers only two No. 1 picks since the club moved to Los Angeles . . . unanimous All-Rookie choice after averaging 13.4 points . . . his .579 FG pct. topped all rookies and is a Laker rookie record . . . had scored in double figures in six straight games and hit at least half of his FGs in 23 straight contests when he suffered a fractured tibia just below his left knee on April 10 . . . underwent surgery on April 12 and had two screws implanted, and was lost to the team for the playoffs . . . already ranks fourth on the club's all-time career FG pct. list.

COLLEGE: James passed up his senior year at UNC after leading the Tar Heels to a 63-62 win over Georgetown and the NCAA title in April, 1982 . . . MVP of the Final Four after scoring game-high 28 points (13-17 FGs) in the championship game . . . averaged 15.6 points as a junior and career averages were 14.5 points and 7.2 rebounds with a .541 FG pct . . . shot .587, .500 and .573 in his three years at UNC . . . named to virtually every All-America team after his junior year . . . second-leading vote-getter (behind Ralph Sampson) on the NBA coaches team that year and shared College Player of the Year honors bestowed by the First Interstate Bank Athletic Foundation with his rival from Virginia . . . the Tar Heels were 71-13 (.845) during his three years . . . missed the final 14 games of his freshman season with a broken ankle . . . All-ACC as a sophomore and a junior . . . also named to the All-ACC Tournament team both years and named Tournament MVP in his junior year.

PERSONAL: James spent the summer in North Carolina . . . played a lot of basketball and continued working towards his degree . . . would like to work in counseling with either the aged or mentally retarded, and has done both during his summers . . . made several high school All-America teams while a junior at Ashbrook, averaging 19.8 points and 12 rebounds . . . unanimous prep All-America after his senior year when he averaged 21.5 points and 12.5 rebounds . . . James and his college sweetheart, Angela Wilder, were married in North Carolina in mid-August.

June 8
Larry Bird's 34 and 17 rebounds, the Lakers' 39-91 FGs (.428) and 97-degree heat in the Boston Garden conspire in a 121-103 Celtic victory as Boston takes a 3-2 lead in the series.

June 10
KAREEM ABDUL-JABBAR's 30 points and 23 by MICHAEL COOPER, his highest-scoring game of the year, lead the Lakers to a 119-108 victory and set up a dramatic seventh game in Boston Garden.

June 12
The Celtics use a 52-33 rebounding edge and 43-18 FT advantage to overcome sub-.400 FG shooting and defeat the Lakers, 111-102, for their 15th NBA title, eight at the Lakers' expense. Larry Bird is named the series MVP.

June 19
Selecting 23rd, the Lakers make EARL JONES of the University of the District of Columbia their first-round choice in the 1984 college draft.

The Lakers had the second-best road record in the NBA (26-15) and only Boston (29-12) also won more than half of its road games. Three other Pacific Division clubs (Portland 33, Seattle 32, and Phoenix 31) won more home games than the Lakers' 28, and Golden State won 27. The Lakers and Celtics were the only NBA clubs to win six road games in a row, and at one point in early January, the Lakers simultaneously had a four-game road winning streak and four-game home losing streak.

NBA PLAYOFF STRUCTURE

Once again, the 16-team playoff format adopted in 1983 and implemented in last year's post-season, will be in effect this season.

Eight teams from each conference, the two division champions and the six other teams in each conference with the best winning percentage, qualify for the playoffs.

The first round of the playoffs will be a best-of-five series with all succeeding rounds, including the NBA Championship Series, best-of-seven. All teams participate in all rounds—the first-round byes awarded division winners are no longer in effect.

The lone change from last year's format will be that the team in the Championship Series with the better regular-season winning percentage shall host the first two and last two games, if necessary. The other team will host Games 3, 4, 5. The 2-3-2 format was adopted at the league meetings this past summer after the Lakers were forced to make six cross-country trips to play last year's seven-game series under the old 2-2-1-1-1 system.

THE FORUM . . . HOME OF THE LAKERS

Ground Breaking	July 1, 1966
First Event:	December 30, 1967
	Flyers 2, Kings 0
First Lakers Game:	December 31, 1967
	Lakers 147, Rockets 118
Basketball Capacity	17,505
Hockey:	16,005
Conventions:	19,385
Boxing:	18,780
Concerts:	19,000

The Forum, built by Jack Kent Cooke in 1967 and purchased by Jerry Buss in 1979, is one of the world's premier sports and entertainment showplaces.

Forum history highlights include, the largest live boxing gate, $475,640, in West Coast history when Muhammad Ali split decisioned Ken Norton on Sept. 10, 1973; Tony Bennett and Duke Ellington in the first Forum concert in 1968; the Lakers 114-100 victory over the New York Knicks on May 7, 1972 to bring the NBA championship to Los Angeles.

Approximately 30 million people have flocked to such Forum events as world championship boxing, the Harlem Globetrotters, concerts of all shapes and dimensions, ice shows, the circus, rodeos, the champion Los Angeles Strings of Team Tennis, the Los Angeles Times Indoor Track & Field Games and seemingly countless other spectacular entertainment and sporting events.

The Forum added another this past summer when it served as the venue for both the men's and women's basketball competitions in the Olympic Games.

More than 70 percent of seating is between the baskets or goals, and no seat is more than 170 feet from the playing surface.

The finest in dining is provided in the private Forum Club, the public Whistle Stop and at numerous concession stands.

LAKERS YEAR-BY-YEAR

1961 — Lakers first season in Los Angeles after 12 years in Minneapolis . . . Finish in second place in the Western Division behind St. Louis . . . Forward Elgin Baylor winds up as the second leading scorer in the NBA with 2,538 points and a 34.8 ppg. average . . . Playoffs: Defeat Detroit (3-2), but lose to St. Louis (3-4).

1962 — WESTERN DIVISION CHAMPIONS . . . Lakers win the West as Jerry West pours in 2,310 points (30.8) and a part-time Elgin Baylor averages 38.3 . . . Playoffs: Baylor averages 38.6 points and West 31.5 as the Lakers defeat Detroit (4-2), but lose to Boston (3-4) in the championship series in an overtime seventh game . . . Schaus coached.

1963 — WESTERN DIVISION CHAMPIONS . . . Elgin Baylor again finishes as the second leading scorer in the league with 2,719 points (34.0) as the Lakers roll to their second division title . . . Playoffs: Lakers defeat St. Louis (4-3), but lose to Boston in the finals (2-4) . . . Schaus coached.

1964 — West (2,064 pts, 28.7 average) and Baylor (1,983 pts, 25.4 average) finish as the fifth and sixth leading scorers in the league, but Lakers finish in third place behind San Francisco and St. Louis . . . Playoffs: Lose to St. Louis (2-3) in first round . . . Schaus coached.

1965 — WESTERN DIVISION CHAMPIONS . . . West paces the Lakers with 31.0 ppg.—second best in the league . . . Playoffs: Lakers beat Baltimore (4-2) in the division finals despite the absence of the injured Elgin Baylor . . . Lose to Boston (1-4) in the championship. Jerry West has a record-breaking playoff, scoring an incredible 447 points for a 40.6 average in the 11 games played . . . Schaus coached.

1966 — Lakers lead the NBA in scoring, averaging 119.5 ppg . . . West again finishes as the league's second best scorer, averaging 31.3 ppg . . . Playoffs: Lakers defeat St. Louis (4-3) in the division finals, but lose the championship to Boston (3-4) in a seventh game that Boston wins by two points, 95-93 . . . Schaus coached.

LAKERS YEAR-BY-YEAR

1967 — Plagued by injuries that keep West out of the lineup for 15 games and Baylor out for 11, the Lakers slide to third place in the Western Division. Playoffs: West manages to play in only one playoff game and the Lakers bow to San Francisco (0-3) in the opening round. . . Schaus coached.

1968 — WESTERN DIVISION CHAMPIONS . . . Under new coach Butch Van Breda Kolff, Lakers roll to division title despite absence of West for 31 games during regular season. . . Baylor leads the team in scoring (26.0), rebounding (941) and assists (355). . . Playoffs: Lakers sweep by Chicago (4-1) and San Francisco (4-0), but lose to Boston (2-4) in championship.

1969 — WESTERN DIVISION CHAMPIONS . . . Lakers start slowly, but compile nine-game win streak in November that puts them in first place for the rest of the season. . . New Laker Wilt Chamberlain leads league in rebounds (21.1) and field goal percentage (.583). . . Playoffs: Lakers lose first two playoff games but come back to beat San Francisco (4-2), then overwhelm Atlanta (4-1). . . Lose to Boston (3-4) in seven games, the last game a 108-106 heartbreaker in Los Angeles. . . Van Breda Kolff coached.

1970 — WESTERN DIVISION CHAMPIONS . . . Injury jinx again hits Lakers as Wilt Chamberlain tears knee ligaments and is lost to team for regular season. Lakers finish in second place in division. . . Playoffs: Wilt Chamberlain back, Lakers defeat Phoenix (4-3) and Atlanta (4-0), but run out of miracles in the final series against New York, bowing to the Knicks and a hobbling Willis Reed in seven games (3-4). . . Joe Mullaney coached.

1971 — PACIFIC DIVISION CHAMPIONS . . . Lakers finish a strong seven games ahead of San Francisco for the division crown, despite Baylor missing all but two games in the regular season. Scoring slack was taken up by Chamberlain (20.7), Happy Hairston (18.6) and Gail Goodrich (17.5). . . Playoffs: Both Baylor and West are not in uniform, but Lakers still manage to upset Chicago in seven games (4-3) in the opening round. . . Team falls to eventual World Champion Milwaukee Bucks in five games (1-4). . . Mullaney coached.

1972 — WORLD CHAMPIONS . . . Lakers set record as winningest team in the history of the NBA with 69 wins, and also compile a 33-game win streak — the longest streak in all professional sports, as they finish in first place in the Pacific Division by an amazing 18 games. . . Goodrich averages 25.9 points and West hands out a league-leading 747 assists. . . Playoffs: Lakers roll over Chicago (4-0) and eliminate Milwaukee (4-2) to win the Western Division. . . Los Angeles spots New York a one game lead in the finals, but then rolls to four straight wins to gain the World Championship (4-1). In the final game Wilt Chamberlain hauls down 29 rebounds and scores 24 points as the Lakers win 114-100. . . Bill Sharman is voted Coach-of-the-Year.

1973 — WESTERN CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS . . . Wilt Chamberlain becomes the first player in NBA history to shoot over 70% from the field (.727) and the Lakers have the second best record in the club's history, winning 60 and losing only 22. . . Playoffs: Lakers down Chicago (4-3) and Golden State (4-1) to again face New York for the championship. Lakers win the first game, but Knicks' pressure defense causes Los Angeles to average 19 turnovers per game and New York wins the next four and the title (1-4). . . Sharman coached.

1974 — PACIFIC DIVISION CHAMPIONS . . . Lakers stage a tremendous comeback in the last seven games of the season to erase Golden State's three game lead and win the crown. Their accomplishment was even more remarkable considering that they did it without last year's stalwarts, Wilt Chamberlain and Jim McMillian, and with West sidelined for 51 games. . . Playoffs: Lose to Milwaukee in opening round (1-4). . . Sharman coached.

1975 — Jerry West retires. . . Cazzie Russell injures his knee and is out for the balance of the season, and the Lakers miss the NBA playoffs for the first time in 14 seasons. . . High points of the year include Gail Goodrich's 53 points against Kansas City-Omaha and Happy Hairston's 14 rebounds in one quarter against Philadelphia. . . Sharman coached.

1976 — New Laker Kareem-Abdul Jabbar becomes the first Laker in either Minneapolis or Los Angeles to win the League MVP award, the fourth time in his seven-year career that he has received that honor. In one of the most convincing displays of basketball dominance, Abdul-Jabbar leads the league in rebounds, blocked shots, minutes played, is second in scoring, fifth in shooting, and second on the Lakers in steals and assists. However, Lakers are totally unable to win on the road (9-32) and are edged out of the playoffs by losing the last two games of the season at Portland and Phoenix. . . Sharman coached.

1977 — PACIFIC DIVISION CHAMPIONS . . . Former Laker great, Jerry West, returns to the team as head coach, and in his rookie season guides the Lakers to the best record in the NBA—53-29—and the Pacific Division title. . . In the process, Lakers set an NBA record with 37 home wins and a Laker team record with 21 consecutive home victories. . . Center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar wins his second straight NBA Most Valuable Player award, the fifth time in his eight year career that he has earned such honors. Playoffs: Lakers defeat Golden State in seven games (4-3) as Abdul-Jabbar averages 37 points, 18.7 rebounds, and shoots .607 from the field. In the Western Conference finals, Lakers are unable to contain Portland's quick guards and are swept, 0-4.

1978 — Five Laker players suffer broken bones in the first half of the season including center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who breaks his hand in the first two minutes of the opening game of the year when he punches Milwaukee center Kent Benson in retaliation for a thrown elbow. . . In addition, forward Kermit Washington is fined $10,000 and suspended 60 days for punching Houston forward Rudy Tomjanovich. . . In the second half of the season, with most of the players healthy, Lakers roll to a 28-13 mark, second best in the league. . . For the season Lakers shoot .487 from the field, second best in the history of the franchise. Playoffs: Laker guards are pressured into shooting a combined .363 (37-102) from the field as team loses to Seattle, 1-2, in the first round.

1979 — West completes three-year reign as coach with 47-35 record and playoff elimination by Seattle for second straight year . . . Bullets and Sonics are strongest NBA teams, having reached finals two years in a row. Lakers are using small forwards, Jamaal Wilkes and Adrian Dantley . . . In summer prior to 1980 season, Cooke sells his California Sports Inc. empire (Lakers, Kings, Forum and a ranch) to Santa Monica real estate developer Jerry Buss for $67.5 million . . . Buss hires Jack McKinney to be head coach and Paul Westhead from LaSalle as assistant.

1980 — WORLD CHAMPIONS . . . McKinney falls from bicycle Nov. 8 and Westhead takes over, guiding team to Lakers' second NBA championship in their 20 years in LA . . . Abdul-Jabbar is MVP . . . Lakers win final playoff game over 76ers in Philadelphia without injured Kareem, and rookie star Magic Johnson wins playoff MVP award. Westhead is then given a new four-year contract by Buss and McKinney signs to coach Indiana Pacers . . . Pat Riley, lured from broadcasting booth where he was Hearn's color man, is new assistant coach.

1981 — Lakers open season with five consecutive wins, their best start ever in Los Angeles . . . On November 18, Magic Johnson, in a game against Kansas City, suffers a torn cartilage in his left knee and is out for the next 45 games . . . Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, plays brilliantly in his absence, at one point scoring 22 or more points in 33 consecutive games . . . Lakers record a 28-17 mark without Magic . . . Head coach Paul Westhead wins his 100th NBA game, March 17 vs. Dallas, becoming fifth fastest in league history to do so . . . Los Angeles finishes second in the Pacific Division to Phoenix with a 54-28 record. Playoffs: Despite the home-court advantage, Lakers stunned in opening mini-series by Houston 2-1. Rockets advance to NBA Finals, before losing to Boston in six games.

1982 — WORLD CHAMPIONS . . . Lakers got off to a slow start and Paul Westhead is fired on November 19, record is 7-4 . . . Pat Riley takes over and the Lakers win 17 of next 20 games and stand 24-7 and open up a five game lead over Seattle in the Pacific Division . . . Mitch Kupchak injures his knee on December 19 and is lost for year . . . Lakers sign free agent Bob McAdoo on December 24 and compensate New Jersey with a draft pick . . . Kurt Rambis emerges as Kupchak's replacement on a January road trip to the mid-west . . . Lakers finish strong, winning 15 of final 19 games and their record of 57-25 is third best in NBA . . . Lakers sweep Phoenix and San Antonio 4-0 to reach NBA Finals, becoming first NBA club ever to record back-to-back series sweeps and win first game of NBA Finals vs. Philadelphia to set NBA record for most consecutive playoff wins . . . Lakers win second NBA World Championship in three years with a 114-104 win over 76ers in sixth game . . . Magic Johnson again wins MVP with a steady, 'blue-collar' performance which included 13 points, 13 rebounds and 13 assists in title game . . . McAdoo plays key role throughout playoffs and gets his first World Championship ring . . .

1983 — WESTERN CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS . . . Lakers begin the season as the first reigning champion to add the No. 1 pick in the college draft with the selection of James Worthy . . . Golden State spoils the team's Championship ring ceremony on Opening Night with a 132-117 victory, but the Lakers win their next seven games . . . Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien upholds a protest lodged by the San Antonio Spurs after a double-overtime win by the Lakers in San Antonio, and the Spurs eventually win the completed game . . . Kareem Abdul-Jabbar passes two milestones, getting his 14,000th rebound and scoring his 29,000th point . . . Magic Johnson leads the league in assists and is named to the All-NBA First Team for the first time . . . Bob McAdoo misses the final 32 regular season games due to an injured toe, and James Worthy is lost for the playoffs when he suffers a broken leg in the final week of the regular-season . . . Lakers finish with a 58-24 record, one game better than the previous season . . . Pat Riley becomes the third-fastest coach in NBA history to win 100 games . . . Lakers defeat the Portland Trail Blazers in five games and the San Antonio Spurs in six before losing to the Philadelphia 76ers in four games in the Championship Series.

1984 — WESTERN CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS . . . Prior to the pre-season opener, Norm Nixon and Eddie Jordan are traded to the San Diego Clippers for Byron Scott and Swen Nater . . . Mitch Kupchak, who sat out 23 months from knee injuries suffered in December, 1981, returns to the club in November . . . Earvin Johnson, off to a record-pace in assists, suffers a dislocated right index finger on Dec. 2 and is lost for a month . . . Bob McAdoo picks up the slack, coming off the bench and scoring in double figures in 25 straight games spanning December and January . . . Magic Johnson sets an All-Star Game record with 22 assists and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar leads the West with 25 points and 13 rebounds . . . Abdul-Jabbar breaks Wilt Chamberlain's all-time NBA FG record in Boston Feb. 8, the team's final victory in a season-long eight-game winning streak . . . Johnson's 23 assists vs. Seattle Feb. 21 tie the club record . . . Jamaal Wilkes comes down with an intestinal infection in February and never regains his usual form . . . Abdul-Jabbar breaks Wilt Chamberlain's all-time NBA scoring record vs. Utah at Las Vegas April 5 . . . the Lakers win their third straight Pacific Division title, eliminate Kansas City in three games, Dallas in five and Phoenix in six, before losing to Boston in seven games in the Championship Series . . . Johnson sets an all-time playoff record with 24 assists in Game 2 vs. Phoenix, and his 21 assists in Game 3 vs. Boston are an all-time Championship Series record . . . post-season honors: Abdul-Jabbar and Johnson are first team All-NBA, Michael Cooper is first team All-Defensive with Abdul-Jabbar second team, and Johnson wins the innaugural Schick Pivotal Player Award.

Cut across rock-strewn gorges. Kick through sand that used to hold you back. Pound your way through places you always thought were impossible.

The new 1985 Toyota 4x4 has a 2.4 liter engine, the most powerful engine ever built for a truck of its class. Its 116 snorting horses will take you where you want to go without working up a sweat. How? Its all-new computer-controlled Electronic Fuel Injection always feeds 'em when they're hungry. Exactly what they need.

Built like a tank, this feisty 4x4 boasts wide, rugged P225/75R15 tires, and pounds along because it can take a pounding.

For the lofty spirit in you that wants to get above it all, you get the highest running ground clearance in its class. So you'll ride high over the obstacles—not into them.

Its double-wall bed construction is matched with solid steel skid plates under the transfer case and fuel tank. Its suspension system with solid front-and-rear axles has been proven off-road for reliability and durability.

OH WHAT A FEELING!
TOYOTA

Ask around. Toyota owners reported the lowest incidence of repairs for any small truck—imported or domestic.*

For the creature comfort needs in you, there is full, rich carpeting and an AM/FM/MPX sound system that'll floor you. With this 4x4 SR5 XTRACAB you get extra space behind the seats and automatic locking front hubs, so you can change from 2WD to 4WD on command from the comfort of the cab. Get one. 'Cause there are mountains waiting.

TOYOTA TRUCKS. MOST POWERFUL EVER!
